Good Afternoon Everyone,

On Wednesday, May 7, Susquehanna County distributed the second draft of the Flood Hazard Mitigation Plan the County has been researching and drafting for public comment. The deadline for submitting comments closed on Friday, May 16, 2008. However, the County did not receive any comments in response to either drafts of the Plan, and as a result, is extending the comment period until close of business (COB) Wednesday, May 21, 2008.

Given the significant impact the Flood Mitigation Plan could have on the County and municipalities -- especially future planning efforts and development in the floodplain and the ability of municipalities to access discretionary funds on behalf of residents for flood reduction projects, it is important this Plan receive thoughtful and critical review by all stakeholders in the County.

Please, take the time to review this plan and send your comments to Mark Wood via email (simply respond to this message) or via fax, 278-4440.

Your time and efforts are greatly appreciated.
